

Can you describe the video in detail?

Sure, the video features a woman who is seen standing in a room, wearing a pair of ballet shoes. She then proceeds to perform a series of ballet moves, showcasing her flexibility and grace. As the video progresses, the woman transitions to a different setting, where she is seen performing the same ballet moves in a different location. The background of the video is not specified, but it is clear that the woman is performing in a professional setting. The video ends with the woman finishing her performance and walking away, leaving the viewer with a sense of admiration for her talent and dedication to ballet.

What is the brand shown at the end of the video?

The video ends with the brand UA (Under Armour) being shown.